E. PUBLIC INVITED TO BE HEARD

Maria Alvarez

Ms. Alvarez came expressing concerns regarding rent increases at The Grands at Granite Falls, a 62+ affordable housing apartment complex. Residents are being told that their rent can go up as much as $400 to $500 more per month.

Town Manager Kelly Arnold stated that this issue was brought to his attention three weeks ago, so he contacted the property owners as well as North Carolina Housing Finance Agency and Wake County Housing Affordability Division. All those he communicated with stated the proposed rates are meeting mandated guidelines. Arnold asked the property owners to watch the evening's meeting and then communicate with tenants afterward in a transparent manner.

Commissioner Alston requested Mr. Arnold reach out to Housing and Urban Development to inquire about protection for seniors.

George Garcia, 524 Averette Road

Mr. Garcia came asking for an explanation of what, if anything, is being done on the farm acreage purchased by the town, stating taxpayers have a right to be informed.

Commissioner Medley responded that there are things going on that you may not see.

Mr. Garcia asked that plans be changed to include saving trees.

Lastly Mr. Garcia asked where he could see campaign donation records for those running for the seats occupied by Mayor Currin, and Commissioners Sutton and Medley for which was responded the Wake County Board of Elections.

Guy Jones, 4706 Cousins Lane, Wake Forest

Mr. Jones spoke about the Harris Creek Farms rezoning request not on this meeting's agenda and reported how important "Jonesville" is to its families that live adjacent to the proposed Harris Creek Farms project. The project will negatively impact the property tax on those families' properties, a situation that may force residents to either sell their property or face foreclosure after which developers will "swoop in" and purchase the properties for further development.

Marie Jarvis, 3704 Gideon Drive, Wake Forest

Ms. Jarvis also lives in the Jonesville community and expressed her concerns regarding the Harris Creek Farms project and its impact on the community both financially and with respect to traffic safety.

Derek Versteegen, 414 Virginia Water Drive.

Listen to the developer or listen to the community. The developer showed up a year ago and will be gone after the last house has been built. The residents have been here for generations. The developer stated to the Planning Board that the changes being requested are not significant and the minutes of the public meeting they held express that they do not value the residents' concerns.

Yolanda Taylor, 200 E. Young Street, Rolesville

Speaking on behalf of Jonesville residents as an attorney and member of the Wake County Housing Affordability board. Advocated that development be paused until the affordable housing plan is in place.
